

Good But Not Religious (GBNR)

SEPTEMBER 2019 - A monthly update on Keith Martin's work as a nonreligious chaplain and educator at U. Waterloo, U. Guelph and online

SUMMER HIGHLIGHTS (Chaplaincy and Personal)

Multi-Faith Resource Team Strategic Planning

On May 21, the U. of Guelph Multi-Faith Resource Team met at Newman Centre Guelph to evaluate the past year and plan for the coming academic year.

Keith's son graduates

On June 11, Keith gave the invocation at the U. of Guelph Convocation where his son, Ryan, graduated with a B. Comm. degree with distinction.

Keith's daughter has a daughter

On June 24, Keith's daughter, Carol-Lee, gave birth to her daughter Isabelle.

SUMMER LOSS

On August 8, Jenny Martin, the love of Keith's life, passed away from stage 4 ovarian cancer. They had 3 wonderful years together after she was diagnosed, including celebrating Ryan's graduation and Isabelle's birth.

FALL LEAVE

Keith will be on leave for September, October and November, healing from the loss of his wife. He will return in January with regular drop-in hours, A Taste of Oasis (at UG), and a discussion group on Being and Doing Good at both U. of Waterloo and U. of Guelph.
